

Backstage Library Works provides cataloging and other metadata services in a multitude of languages.

Our teams are led by veteran catalogers and staffed with crews that include native speakers and graduates from the world-renowned language studies programs at nearby Brigham Young University. We also have a network of contract catalogers on speed dial, just waiting for us to call on their knowledge of some obscure tongue.

The following list reflects current resources, ordered by linguistic family or geographical group and, on the second page, alphabetically by specific language.

If you don't see the language you're looking for, give us a call. Chances are we can track down the right combination of linguistic and bibliographic expertise for your project.
